Fallen Angels by Jess Michaels: London, 1815. Arabella Nicholas is the Madame of a high class brothel. She starts receiving death threats so she hires John Valentine, an ex-Bow Street Runner. John, who knows of Arabella's reputation, agrees to meet with her. A disgraceful mistake in his former life as a Bow Street Runner, has him in need of work. A powerful chemistry explodes between John and the lovely Arabella. Fallen Angels is a sultry, seductive read. The story teases and seduces the senses, guaranteed to pleasure fans of erotic, historical romance.

Parlor Games by Leda Swan: Victorian England. Sarah Chesham, a young beautiful woman, near penniless, stops into a coffee house for a simple meal. The serving woman sees that Sarah needs food and shelter. She tells her employer, Madame Erskine, about Sarah. Madame Erskine, her coffee house a front for an upscale brothel, offers Sarah shelter. Sarah, who is both naive and innocent, doesn't realize she'd been set up to offer her favors to the rich and powerful men of London. Tom Wilde, a journalist, is searching for dirt on a Sir Richard Eddington, a Member of Parliament. Tom wants to expose the man for the scoundrel he is. Tom finds Sarah on her first day at the brothel. Leda Swann has penned a sexy, playful romp set in Victorian England.

Border Lord by Julia Templeton: Time travel from present day back to medieval Scotland. After Terri Campbell discovers her fiancé is having an affair with his assistant, she takes off to nurse her broken heart. One day she stops at old priory in Scotland and joins the tour in progress. After the tour is over, Terri lingers in the priory. Terri enters a room that has been locked for nearly a thousand years because legend has it that a nun was killed there. Laird MacLellan killed the nun because he hid his daughter, Annabelle, there to keep her safe. Terri wakes up some time later and discovers she's been transported back in time, complete with a new identity, Annabelle MacLellan. The nuns are trying to protect her from a Scottish Border Lord, Brochan Douglas. Julie Templeton has a painted a delightful, enticing, seductive story of two lovers caught in different times.

If you love historical, time travel and erotic romance, this book is a must read. Three talented authors, with diverse writing styles, have joined together to create one ultra, hot, sexy book.
